

“END – Political, Academic and Justice and Home Affairs Section – Washington Del

Dynamic individual to reinforce foreign policy reporting capacity of the section. Coverage of US policy and contribution to development of EU-US relations regarding: UN/International organizations, Human Rights and democratization in third countries, ICC, China/Taiwan, Japan, Korea, Australia, New Zealand, the Caucasus and Central Asia. Development of close contacts with State Department, NSC, Congress, Pentagon, Member States representatives and broader foreign policy community regarding these areas. Participation in meetings, hearings, briefings and think tank events. Information on EU positions to third parties, the wider public and specific audiences in the US.

Good knowledge of EU External Relations and CFSP as well as EU-US Relations required. Good drafting and communications skills. Relevant experience essential. Flexibility and ability to operate in a team: the successful candidate will also serve as backup on several issues and may be called upon to support HoS on ad hoc priorities.”
